PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL

ALMA MATER

The time has come for us to leave you,
The best of Alma Maters to our minds;
Yes, the time has come to say adieu,
The road of life unwinds.

We yearn to dart forward onto that road,
New-found freedom excites us;
As we prepare to carry our load,
We realize how much you've done for us.

You were always there with a helping hand,
We'll miss your open door;
There are so many things you understand,
Can't you these years restore?

F. G.

FOREWORD

We have now passed one of the most important milestones in our lives — graduation from high school. For some of us it will mean the end of our formal education; for others it will be the commencement of more extensive schooling in order to help us to prepare further for our lives in this very complex world. Yet, Peabody High School, in both its physical and immaterial aspects, will always remain in our hearts as the place where we formed our first lasting friendships, where we first experienced the thrill of loyalty to our Alma Mater during the tenseness and suppressed excitement of our first football games, and where we learned imperceptibly, but none the less completely, how to get along with others and how to accept them as our friends.

We do not know what the future holds for us or whether we shall have the necessary courage and fortitude to meet the problems that face us, but the different people, places and events which contributed to the molding of our characters and our individual personalities during our high school years will have been the best preparation possible for the tasks which lie ahead. Now, nothing can dim the hope and unwavering optimism in our eyes as we look with confidence to the future.

This META has been created for the express purpose of making a permanent record of those persons and events which have formed a tangible and closely related part of our lives during the past four years. Although we experience a certain feeling of hesitancy and doubt at the realization that now we must leave these surroundings in which we have spent four happy and profitable years, we are eager, nevertheless, to step forward into the world to face confidently and courageously whatever the fates have in store for us.

We, the editors, hope that in the years to come, the scanning of this META will serve as a real help to all of us in recalling the many fond memories of our happy high school days.

In Memoriam

Miss Marion A. Moriarty

Shortly before Christmas Day of 1952 the entire faculty and student body were saddened to learn of the death of Miss Moriarty. Although she was with us as teacher and friend for only a few short weeks of our Senior year, we recognized in her many qualities that we admired, qualities which in future years we would do well to emulate. We know that none of us who knew Miss Moriarty will ever forget her friendly manner, her unbounded patience, and her conscientious devotion to duty.

IN APPRECIATION

Before we leave Peabody High School and the final chapter is written of our days here, we wish now to extend our most heartfelt thanks to our teachers who during the past four years have done so much for us, and who have displayed such an interest in our development and well-being. The preparation of young minds so that they may take their place in society is a difficult, though rewarding task. Our teachers are to be commended for their fine efforts in our behalf. There is no doubt that without their guidance and help we would have found the struggle towards adulthood much more difficult and trying.

We will steadfastly try to justify the faith and confidence that they have placed in our ability to succeed, and we appreciate deeply and humbly their expressions of good will and their never ending patience in dealing with the problems that we presented to them from day to day.

To those persons who have done so much for us during our Senior year goes a special vote of thanks. Mr. Frederick R. McManus who gave so much of his time and effort in assisting in the construction of the "META" is deserving of our most profound expression of gratitude. To Miss Mary Luz we present a bouquet of thanks in recognition of her splendid work as our financial adviser. We sincerely want to extend our thanks to Mrs. Eva L. Haines who so ably aided our art editors in the preparation of their work for our year book. To Mr. Edward Donahue we shall be forever grateful for the help that he has rendered us in his capacity as our class adviser.

Our homeroom teachers, Miss Mary Luz, Mr. Arthur V. Johnson, Mr. Thomas Callahan, Mr. Edward T. Donahue, and Mr. D. Edward Gorman have done their utmost to answer our innumerable questions concerning our Senior year at P.H.S., and their kindness and thoughtfulness shall always be remembered by the class of '53.

To Mr. Arthur Barry, our principal, we owe an outstanding debt because of his contributions to our welfare as an educator, and his interest in us as future citizens of our community. May we express our deepest gratitude by saying simply, "Many Thanks."

Last, but not least, comes the entire faculty and the many friends of the Class of '53. To them we owe much, for they have guided us on our way to maturity through four years of the most important years of our lives. We will never forget them, and we shall be everlastingly grateful for their understanding and consideration.

1952 - THE OBSERVER - 1953

The editor of the Observer, Joanna Witham, has done a splendid job in the editorial department of the Observer. She has succeeded in unearthing valuable literary talent in the lower classes, insuring the Observer of future competent editors-in-chief.

Not only did Joanna put all the Peabody High "Shakespeares" to work but she also worked hard behind the scenes writing editorials, editing, and reading proofs. She wishes to thank all the staff for their numerous acts of helpfulness.

William Beres is to be commended for his efficient management of the advertising department. Without the success of this department, the Observer is an impossibility. "Bill" and his staff really did a wonderful job.

What would happen if everyone on the staff had done his job perfectly, but we had no subscribers? Leave it to Mary McNichol to handle the Circulation department successfully in her friendly executive manner.

It wouldn't be right to conclude without giving a special bit of praise to our art editors and our typists. But then, we could fill pages of praise for every individual on the Observer staff but as you can see, it is only possible to list their names and to say to each and every one of them, "Thanks a lot!"

DRAMATIC GUILD

As we come to the end of our studies at P.H.S. we suddenly realize that the time has come to say good-bye to our friends and teachers and embark on a new and exciting life. However, as we glance back, we realize that no other activity held our interest as did the Dramatic Guild. For this, we have but one person to thank, Mr. D. Edward Gorman.

The Dramatic Guild first came into existence at P.H.S. in 1936 through the efforts of Mr. Gorman, whom we know to be a patient and understanding person, never asking more than we can do. In the 1936-1937 seasons, two plays, "One Mad Night" and "Another Mad Night", were presented at the City Hall, although no organized club existed. The cast was made up wholly of students who were keenly interested in dramatics.

By 1939, the work done by Mr. Gorman was so well known that the first official meeting of the Guild was held, a constitution drawn up and officers elected. At this time, there were sixty-five members in the Guild.

During the war years, when Mr. Gorman was in the service, the Guild was inactive. In December of 1947, the first play after his return from the service was produced. With this started the present activities of the Dramatic Guild. Two plays are presented each year, a mystery in the winter and a light comedy in the spring.

The program this year has been a full and enjoyable one. The first event on the program was the production of the winter play, "Night of Terror". (This as the title implies was a mystery which kept everyone on the edge of his seat trying to solve a murder.) Early in February, the Shubert theater in Boston was buzzing with students from P.H.S. who were attending the play "Wonderful Town" starring Rosiland Russell. No one attending this play will ever forget this enjoyable night.

When spring came, it was time once again for the annual spring play. This year, the play which attained success was "The Form Divine". (Remember the rehearsals in the corridor outside room 308 with the laughs and endless talk? Remember the times that we missed our cues and forgot our lines? And remember throughout this that Mr. Garman never got angry or became impatient with us?) And what went on in our minds on the "Big Night"? How did we ever go on? Well, if it were not for the confidence that Mr. Gorman had in us, we never would have presented successfully either one of our Dramatic Guild productions.

Early in June, with graduation drawing near, we took a day off and went on that wonderful outing that only the Guild could plan so well.

When we review the pleasant events and happenings of the Guild, is it any wonder that we regret leaving P.H.S.?

The Senior class members of the Dramatic Guild owe thanks to Mr. Gorman not only because he was our adviser but because he was a true friend ever ready to offer all of us at all times the help and encouragement we so often needed.

CAST OF "A NIGHT OF TERROR"

"NIGHT OF TERROR"

DECEMBER 5, 1952

"Night of Terror": Warning:- Everyone keep off streets. Killer on the loose. Murder reported.

On Dec. 5th, everyone in the audience in the P.H.S. auditorium became a detective for one evening. Their task was to solve the murder of old Rufus Thorndike.

The living-room of the old Thorndike mansion, remotely situated in the country, was quiet when Christine, the niece of Rufus Thorndike arrived there with her friends one week-end. Her fiance, Lee Kempton and her friends, Janice Newbury and Rus Julian, all felt uneasy at her uncle's home because of Agatha, the sinister step-daughter of Uncle Rufus and the peculiar servants, Lolita and Reynolds. Uncle Rufus had a phobia for changing his will. When he was murdered, the sheriff, Len Allerton, arrived on the scene to take over. First suspicion falls on one and then on the other. To add to the mystery, Delia Steven, a newspaper reporter looking for a story gets involved. In the end, through the curiosity of Lee and the aid of the medical examiner, Dr. George Ingraham, the killer is proved to be the sheriff who was in love with Agatha and wanted her to inherit her step-father's money. The sheriff is arrested by State Trooper, Tony Nason and everyone goes back to the normal pattern of life.

"THE FORM DIVINE"

1-2-3 - - - touch your toes - - - 1-2-3-4 - - - keep bending in order to have that "Form Divine".

Lights, places, curtain going up — on the Dramatic Guild's annual spring presentation entitled "The Form Divine", a delightful three-act comedy featuring a Peabody High School all star cast on May 15, 1953.

Rehearsals were held two nights a week and were certainly lots of fun for all — but as we look back upon those evenings of forgotten lines and cues, we remember most of all, our patient director and sincere friend to whom we owe the success of the play, Mr. D. Edward Gorman.

Lu Webb spurred on by the insinuations of her teen-age daughter Hoppy, husband Arthur, maid Gretel and old school chum Charlotte, begins to see herself as a terribly drab, fading wife and mother — together with her friend Dorothy Coips she enrolls in the "Beautiful You" school of beauty. When Arthur finds out about this — there are fireworks!!! but all turns out well. We certainly can't forget Hoppy and her friends whose proplexing problems (including Jimmy) add to the good humor and comedy of the play.

The cast is as follows:

Lucilla Webb	Marcy Dowling
Arthur Webb	William Kachinski
Hoopy Webb	Shirley Spencer
Gretel	Noreen Vagge
Peggy	Helen Vontzalides
Dorothy Coips	Rae Kelley
Charlotte Benson	Paula Prendible

CLASS PROPHECY—1953

TIME: 1963

The whole nation is getting into the spirit of the most important historical event of the year, the inauguration of the future president of the United States. Television and radios are tuned in, and all eyes and ears are anxiously awaiting the day's events at Washington. The sky is bright and clear, the wind is brisk and cool, and an air of expectancy hovers over the crowd. We see television cameramen scattered about. There's JAMES H. KILEY, our television cameraman broadcasting the beginning of the days' exciting events.

"Hello, America! This is Jim Kiley, speaking to you today with the best wishes of LARRY R. McINTIRE, president of Narragansett, brewers of the country's most delicious ale and beer. Keep tuned to Station DGP for first-hand reports on the inauguration scene. I'd like to thank the following sponsors for relinquishing their time so that we might bring you this important broadcast today on Channel 12.

"9:00 a.m.—The Wonder Cake Company, owned by ROBERT G. COOK & Sons, sponsors of the informative 'News Hour,' ALEX PRUE commentator.

"10:00 a.m.—The NELSON M. BROWN Perma-Bobpin Company, makers of the clever bobby pins that hold, set, and control your hair permanently, sponsors of 'Helpful Hints to Husbands.' This program is m.c.'d by the incomparable SHIRLEY ERNEST.

"10:30 a.m.—Thanks also to the new comedy show, 'In-laws are Here to Stay,' starring STEPHEN BARNA, JR. and SHIRLEY ATKINSON. This program is brought to you daily by Vitameatavegamine, the pure, non-alcoholic drink that makes you peppy and keeps you that way all day. FREXO FRED BOUGAS especially endorses this invigorating beverage for ping-pong players. Mr. Bougas is one of the body-guards of the president-elect, and a United States amateur ping-pong artist who has been capturing the hearts of the Russian maids during his last good-will tour abroad. Comments Mr. Bougas:

"Without vitameatavegamine, I wouldn't have power to hit the ping-pong ball, and I always take a 'swig' before going on the job to protect our president-elect."

"11:00 a.m.– The Wilkinson Blasting Company, owned and operated by RAYMOND WILKINSON, sponsor of 'The Peaceful Hour.' The company wrecks useful buildings and makes useless products, some of which are ammunition, fire-crackers, and dynamite."

"Last but not least, we'd like to thank the sponsors of the 12:00 'Bride and Groom' program: LOUIS EFTIM, owner of the Jiffy Can-opener Company and RICHARD J. MAJESKI, who owns the Majestic Publishing Company. They collaborated to publish the new cook book written by BARBARA F. BAKER, 'Two Hands and a Can-opener.'"

"The day turned out bright and clear, in spite of the prediction of snow by C. O. W. weatherman, JOHN E. CHERWEK. I turn you now to DONALD SHELDON at TV Camera II, who'll describe the beautiful floats from all parts of the nation. Come in, Don."

"Hi, folks. This is Don at Camera II, and as you can see, the floats are nearly ready, except for a few finishing touches. We can thank ROBERT L'ABBE, inventor of the wonderful TV color tube for the chance of viewing the floats in their splendid array of colors. The tube, incidentally, is made in Massachusetts at the Sylvania plant managed by EDWARD WATERS.

"The first float that we see is the Texas float. On the float is a towering oil pump around which are a number of celebrities . . . FLORENCE BALLAS, who introduced the D. A. haircut to the south; FERNANDO TRUEIRA and AMERICO N. COITO, co-owners of a string of moving vans, and LOUIS J. O'KEEFE, manager of the mammoth annual rodeo held by the FFF ranch, owned by FORREST F. FELT. The float is drawn by four white horses and a handsome stallion. RICHARD GOURLEY, an oil multimillionaire, is riding the leading horse. Maybe we can get him to say a few words. "Oh, Mr. Gourley! . . . here he comes, folks.

"Tell me, Mr. Gourley, I suppose your lovely wife is here for this occasion?"

"Well, suh, to tell the truth, I only had room in muh trailer to take muh wife. Naturally, I did the logical thing any decent Texan would do." . . . (yawn) . . . "I just took muh horse!"

"Thanks, Mr. Gourley. Let's get back to the floats. The second is from Hollywood, and what a float! Such a collection of beauties would be difficult to match. There's CAROLE GIRGUS, star of TV's 'Blondie' of the 'Blondie and Dagwood' films; MARCELLA R. DOWLING and JOANN SALTZMAN, up and coming stars;

. . . and there's one male among them! Let's take a closer look with the camera. He seems to be enjoying himself, surrounded with so many pretty girls. Well, I'll be! If it isn't JOHN PAUL JONES! He's currently wowing the crowds at the Brown Derby. In fact, 'Red' Buttons just lost a million dollar suit against him. 'Red' claims that his 'hey, hey, ho, ho!' was what brought Jones fame and his present status, while John Paul says it's all in the way he makes his pants sag!

"The New York float is something out of the ordinary. It is based on the United Nations with each beauty representing her native country. I see a pretty Dutch maid in full attire, a French miss wearing the usual . . . a French beret, straight skirt, and an exceptionally attractive sweater. Russia has her best entered, too, complete with Babushka and all. Last but certainly not least, is lovely Mrs. America of 1963, the former SHIRLEY KOBAN. She is wearing a white, strapless bathing suit. Shirley always was known for her economy!

"The last float is from the President-elect's home town, Peabody, Mass. Lying flat on the float is a large leather skin representing the former main industry, and on it is a mammoth 'juke box' representing the new industry of the city, music. Ever since the increasing development of sparkling talent in the past ten years, the city has been rapidly adapting itself as a music center. Around the 'juke box' is much of the city's best talent, as well as many of her prettiest ladies. Some that I can make out are: the former EVANGELINE "TOOTSIE" ARGEROS, who of late has been teaming up on records with many of today's greatest; SHIRLEY J. MARSHALL, Mayor

OUR CHRISTMAS BALL

GEORGE A. DEMERITT'S private secretary, PEGGY J. DECOULOS, who owns and operates 'Peg's Frills 'n' Fashion Shoppe', the former SHIRLEY PARE, head of the North Shore P. T. A. Council. There's the former PAULA PRENDIBLE the lucky housewife who recently won the national pie-baking contest at the Chicago Housewife's Annual Fair. VIRGINIA WENDELL, runner-up for the past three years, made quite a fuss when it was revealed that SYLVIA ROSA and LORETTA PRESS, judges of the contest, were former classmates of Paula.

"I'll switch you back to Camera I and . . . wait! Who's that coming up the avenue? Oh, yes. Hopalong Cassidy rides his horse in the parade. Oh, no. It's PETRO TSOUKALAS garbed in a cowboy outfit and taking Hoppy's place. He looks quite authentic with boots, plaid shirt, etc. Even his feet have that look of a well-worn cowboy! . . . now back to Jim Kiley."

"This is Jim again. We are in front of the White House, and the platform is rapidly being filled with many famous people. There's Admiral ANDREW SULLIVAN, of the Navy, Admiral FREDERICK G. BLACK, of the Coast Guard, accompanied by his able assistant, Commander JOHN M. GALLO. Leading the delegation of governors is WILLIAM BERES, governor of the State of Massachusetts. For the first time in history, we also have a governor representing the new states of Hawaii and Alaska; Governor of Hawaii WILLIAM J. ALLEN, and Governor of Alaska F. JAMES CRONIN. Behind them are Senators from Massachusetts HARRY BATCHELDER and CHARLES MOGAVERO, famous for their speeches against teen-age driving. Following the Senatorial procession are the United States Representatives, including those from the President-Elect's home state. Most popular of these are JOSEPH F. DINEEN, THOMAS P. CARES, and the former PEGGY SPELIOTIS, advocate of 'Equal Rights for Women.' The young lady has been so successful, however, that the male representatives of Massachusetts are seriously thinking of a poll tax for women.

"While we are waiting for the presidential party to arrive, here are some of the officials for today's proceedings: Director of U. S. Military band, ROBERT BAZER. The Vice-Presidential oath will be given by Senator WILLIAM RUSSELL from Michigan; and the Presidential oath by the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, the Honorary FLETCHER I. OAKES. The Star-Spangled Banner will be sung by JOANNA WITHAM, followed by the Invocation by the Rev. WILLIAM B. DALEY. MILES J CARES, head of the Secret Police, has our future president well protected with his special staff of HAROLD J. CONROY, JR.; WARREN P. GIBNEY, PAUL PELLETIER, SPIROS XERRAS, and MURRAY WHITE.

"WILLIAM C. ATKINSON is coming in now on Camera 4."

"This is Bill Atkinson at Camera 4. The presidential car is surrounded by body-guards PAUL F. HITCHCOCK, HARVEY KASTER, and JOHN P. MULLIGAN. The chauffeur, ALEX KRAVCHUCK, is helping the president into the car. Although the usual head-wear for a President is a Homburg or silk top-hat, designer ELAINE DAVIS created the 'hom-derby' especially for our new woman president. She is accompanied by her husband and the outgoing president. Indeed, Washington Chief of Police PAUL W. MANOS, has done an excellent job of clearing the streets. As the presidential cars are leaving for the inauguration, here's THOMAS KINGSTON at the inauguration platform. Come in, Tom."

"Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen, and thank you, Bill. While we're waiting for the presidential party, let's pick out a few of the celebrities gathered. We see BARBARA I. JARDINE, chief stewardess at United Airlines. JAMES V. GAGNON, Chief Engineer instructor at M. I. T., JOAN McMORRILL, new head of the Wacs, and JOSEPHINE Y. DeCARLO, who opened the first of many 'Rest Homes for Men.' Miss DeCarlo is contemplating selling out the profitable business to LITA A. CAIRES, but Lita claims the price is too high. There are a few of the outgoing president's friends looking on, not too happy at the prospect of a woman president, MICHAEL J. GERAS, who recently completed a ten-year hitch in the Marines, MARTIN J. FREEMAN, U. S. golf champion, and FRANK J. MEDINA, JR., a bank teller at the Warren National Bank. Frank, we've been told, has been rapidly advancing, and is now at the Mortgage Window. Without any further delay, we will focus the camera on the President-elect and her party. The chic, tux-styled suit she is wearing was designed by THALIA MEKEADIS. The exciting new fragrance, 'Madame President,' that our new President is wearing was created by VIRGINIA R. HOLDEN. The parade was so colorful that one would mistake the inauguration for the Easter Parade . . . . . "

The party has finally reached the platform, the invocation was graciously received and the National Anthem beautifully sung. The President has taken her oath, and just given an inspiring Inaugural Address. People are cheering madly as she is congratulated by some of the new members of her cabinet: Secretary of State CARL SEABURG, Secretary of Defense ANN M. MAHER, Secretary of War SHIRLEY WALSH, and Secretary of the Treasury DOROTHY URQUHART.

The President is about to depart for the Inaugural dinner at the Palace Hotel, which is under the management of SAMUEL KERKORIAN. The food of this hotel need hardly be mentioned because the Kerkorian specialties are internationally known. Madame President is surrounded by reporters . . . there's the editor of the Boston Globe FRANCES V. GLEBUS and the well-known journalist, JANE A. FENNESSY. Even HARRY J. KARAVOLAS, man about town, is here, munching on his gum. He is accompanied by his body-guard WILLIAM F. KACHINSKI. The "F." stands for "frustrated."

Some one is trying frantically to get the President's attention. It's LAWRENCE P. McCAULEY, and he's wearing his pink suspenders today! Larry is in charge of the day's entertainment.

The President has finally managed to start her journey to the Palace Hotel. Let's listen to PAUL WRIGHT at the Palace.

" . . . . and the hotel is really mobbed." Throughout the dinner we'll be able to interview many celebrities such as the sensational international figure skating star, lovely CONSTANCE WARING. Connie will have her own weekly ice program on television beginning next month. There's PETER KUSHKOWSKI, the new singing rage. Mr. Kushkowski had a difficult time during his last visit to Paris. It seems the French gals almost held up the boat! That 'man of the world' ALEXANDER M. COVER is also present. Alex has seen more world tours than the presidential candidates. Oh, oh! Don't look now, but here comes the head waiter ARMEN SARKISIAN. The popular fellow, who is sought after by leading night spots, is known as "the dancing waiter," for every time an orchestra plays 'Go, go, go!' he goes! The President and guests have now appeared. By the way, it's amazing how a pair of pink suspenders have upset an entire nation. Larry has really started something, for the President's husband is wearing them, too! The inventor of these trend-setting suspenders, WILLIAM TRABUCCO, should be satisfied that he has so many demands for them, but Billy says he's sorry he didn't have enough of his matching pink boots made in time.

"The guests are all seated and dinner has been served. The head waiter, Armen, is doing an excellent job, except for the unfortuate instance when he tripped and spilled ice water down the back of WILLIAM KAROLIDES, who is covering the inauguration for the new magazine owned by HELEN VONTZALIDES and IRENE SDOUCOS, 'Us Girls.' While everyone is enjoying his dinner, I'd like to take the time to thank the following sponsors for cancelling their programs so that we might bring you the rest of today's events.

"1:00 p.m.—the Ruppert Knickerbocker Company, ROBERT CARPENTER, North Shore representative, sponsoring the exhibition game between the Boston Red Sox and the Milwaukee Braves. Since Tom Yawkey has announced his retirement, it has been rumored that he has been grooming his private secretary, MARY N. COSTAS, to take his place.

3:00 p.m. — The 'Prevention of Cruelty to Parents' Society, GEORGE CROMIDAS, President, Chairman, Treasurer. This society sponsors 'The Human Bean.' Incidentally, George, father of five sons, is determined to have his own family football team.

4:00 p.m.—The Tenney Gum Co., owned by RUTH TENNEY, sponsor of 'Super-girl,' starring RAE F. KELLEY, with her supporting cast, RICHARD J. O'BRIEN and JOAN L. BRADLEY. The play is based on the musical score 'I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles.'

5:00 p.m.—The Kanaracus and Kirstein Kod Liver Oil Company, owned by the former AGNES M. KANARACUS and PHYLLIS A. KIRSTEIN, sponsors of 'One Fool's Family,' starring JAMES P. LeBLANC Co-starring are ANN C. MATVICHUK, CAROL A. NEWTON, and JACQUELYN MICALCHUK . . . "

Dinner is over, and this is the first time a President has disappeared into a LADIES' Room to powder her nose. It's time for the parade to begin, so let's tune in on RICHARD SIEMASKO in Parson's Square.

"This is your reporter bringing you the highlights of the Inaugural Parade. We see the former NOREEN VAGGE, celebrated baton artist, with her adorable five-year old daughter. They are leading the Peabody Drum Corps, which is under the supervision of PHILIP SMIGLIANI. Following them is the Peabody float, on which we see many title-holding beauties, such as Campus Queen 'Mickey' EDITH AIKEN, national swimming star URSULA PYBURN, and SHIRLEY M. SPENCER, who, as Captain PHILIP PSZENY informs us, was selected last week as the 'girl they'd best like to go hiking with'. Following the Peabody float is Captain PETER TORIGIAN of the Second Parachute Division. 'Pete' had a special parachute made for himself, because with an ordinary one, he'd always make a nose landing. The other floats are now coming within view. There's the internationally known circus clown of Barnum & Bailey, EDWARD RENNICK. The parade is so huge, there's hardly room for anyone . . . "

In the midst of the excitement, an on-looker had a fatal heart-attack. Fortunately, EDMOUND PELLETIER, an undertaker, was on hand and took care of matters nicely.

We are now at Pappy's palatial Ball Room, jointly owned by MARY PAPPACOSTAS and VIRGINIA A. PAPACOSTAS. Many of the country's top names are assembled here tonight. There's GERALD J. DeLUCCA of grid fame speaking with MARY SEDLIER and BAYNE MANOOGIAN, debutantes of a few years back. NANCY LALIKOS, chief surgeon at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, appears to be having an interesting conversation with WILLIAM D. HOBEY. Mr. Hobey is the head scientist of the Dupont Corporation, who discovered the formula for the new material called Pylon. Pylon, incidentally, is the matterial used for Madame President's gown. The gown, a stunning blue and white was designed by BARBARA SHERRY. "Biff" also designed her own gown. Here's PRISCILLA YOUNG and PAULINE ZAFERIOU, script-girls for M.G.M., and NANCY THORPE with her travelling companion, GLORIA PETERSON. Miss Thorpe is touring the country with the money she inherited from a wealthy uncle. HENRY SECORSKY and company has just entered the ball room and is causing quite a disturbance. "And company", of course, refers to Henry's six dogs. He has been training them to behave ever since he bought them from BARBARA K. LETTENEY three years ago. The entertainment should begin any moment now. The first to perform will be the team of BARBARA A. MURPHY and CAROLE M. JONES. The girls hate to break up the team, but both are married. Carole thinks it would be a good idea to bring their husbands into the act.

Two orchestras are providing music for us tonight. At one end of the ball-room is ANN M. McCARTHY and her all-girl orchastra. It is interesting to note that although Ann is Republican, she insists on hiring Democratic musicians. She claims it makes her work more interesting and sharpens her political debating power. At the other end of the ballroom is the U.S. Military Orchestra conducted by X. ROBERT MENIATES, who recently completed his program at West Point.

"This is DOROTHY L. JOHNSON speaking for Vogue. I can't help mentioning that the former JANICE J. JACKMAN is here, and, as usual, she is wearing a stunning original. Speaking to her is JOHN R. MacKINNON, world-known movie producer, accompanied by his wife, the former SHIRLEY A. GREGORY. There's the former MARY FEDAS, wife of the present Chief Adviser and JENNIE E. DLUZNIESKA, quickly gaining a reputation as a second Susan Hayward. JOHN D. CHAMPLAIN and JAMES R. McGINN, top photographers from "Washington Today," are also here. This political magazine is owned and operated by the only woman publisher in Washington, ELIZABETH KOMARIN. I see RITA C. LaBELLE, SHIRLEY ST. PIERRE, and MARY M. CULLEN, private secretaries to leading executives from the President's home town. Next to them NANCY T. FARIA, owner of the "Ti-dee Diaper Service." MARCIA E. BIEDERMAN, famed historian who is to write the biography of Madame President, and WILLIAM R. COFFEY, who recently opened "Coffey's Pool Parlor" in Philadelphia are congratulating the husband of the former LAURA H. DUNN on the latest addition to their family . . . the cutest little cocker spaniel to keep their pet poodle company! CAROL A. BLAZEWICZ has just informed Madame President that she will be more than happy to paint her portrait.

The President is reading telegrams just received from personal friends that were unable to attend the inauguration . . . The former JOAN M. DENNEDY and her hubby send their best wishes . . . Heartiest congratulations are sent by MARY A. EAGER, now teaching shorthand at Peabody High, and by former ANN M. GIANACOPOLIS, also of Peabody.

MARGARET M. NEVINS, who just sold her rights to her latest dress designs to SHIRLEY A. MORSE for "Morse's Dress Shoppe," can be seen leaving with CAROLE A. NICKLES and JOAN D. KAVANAUGH, who are associated with I. J. Fox. They have to catch a plane back to Boston for an important conference with GEORGE R. LEONARD of the Leonard Modeling Agency, and BETTY SACCONE, greatest authority on etiquette since Emily Post. PHYLLIS E. HERMAN, manager of the Peabody Credit Bureau, and LEONARD RUSSELL, who recently remodeled the Metro Bowling Alleys in Peabody, are also leaving. Saying "good-night" is the former ELIZABETH FRENCH, who recently sued her third husband for divorce, on the grounds that he looked too much like her first husband. Following "Frenchie" is MARY GALARIS, whose "Grippy Girdle Shoppe" ran out of supplies during the last-minute rush, and BEATRICE PITCHER, covering the inauguration for the "Boston Daily Record."

Last to congratulate our President, MARY McNICHOL, is the former THEODORA KARAKOUDAS and her husband, co-owners of "The Daily Chronicle" (formerly the Peabody Times," and of "Dolly Records."

And so ends one of the most exciting days of our time, the inauguration of the first woman president. The last tune has been played and the final note sung. The crowds are quickly leaving as the lights are being dimmed. Dolly's husband is calling her . . . . "Dolly, . . . Dolly, . . . Dolly! . . . "

" . . . Dolly, wake up! Don't you know what day this is? Our class reunion at Peabody High is set for tonight . . . Dolly!"

"Quiet, will you! You'll wake up the kids! . . . (yawn) . . . I guess I overslept . . . Turn on the TV set, (yawn) and see what time it is . . . "

"O. K. Dolly. Say, that was some dream you just had. You kept muttering something about pink suspenders and an inauguration. Oh, well . . . let's see what's on Channel 12"

" . . . . Hello, America! This is JIM KILEY, speaking to you today with the best wishes of . . . . . "

CLASS DIARY

Our life at Peabody High began as we tip-toed up to our Freshman homerooms for the first time. Through the course of four eventful years we have increased in age and wisdom until we are now able to walk across the stage at P.H.S. and receive our diplomas. Between that first day and our last we had dreaded departmentals as Freshman, ran the Civics Club as Sophomores, elected officers and presented a formal dance as Juniors, and did all manner of interesting things as Seniors.

On the following pages we will present some of the dates and events of our Senior year which we will cherish long in our memories.

September 3. A new school year begins as we all troop back to the classrooms. For us Seniors it is the last September that we shall spend at Peabody High and we are determined to make it the best year of all.

September 12. The results of the Senior Class elections were posted today as follows: President, George DeMerritt; Vice-President, Virginia Pappacostas; Treasurer, James Cronin; Secretary, Edith Aiken; 101 Home Room Representative, Mary Costas; 102, Shirley Gregory; 103, John MacKinnon; 104, Barbara Murphy; 105, Pete Torrigian.

September 19. In preparation for the first football game of the season the whole school limbered up their lungs with the famous "Yea Coach, Yea Team!"

October 3. This is the day the teachers go to school and the students have a day off. Three cheers for the Teachers' Convention.

October 8. That wonderful organization, Junior Achievement, sent a representative to speak to us today. As a result of this assembly many Juniors and Seniors took advantage of this splendid opportunity for executive experience so conveniently offered by J. A. this year.

October 13. Today we celebrated another holiday in memory of the discoverer of America whose birthday was yesterday, October 12.

October 17. Dungarees and slacks held precedence over more formal fashions as the Seniors presented their annual Barn Dance. This can safely be called the most corfortable dance of the year.

October 20, 21, 23. Bimonthlies put a blight on social affairs for the last few days as we all buckled down to studying for the dreaded exams.

October 24. A rest for our weary, hard-working brains came in the form of a Civics Club dance. Everyone contributed toward making it a social and financial success.

October 28. Mrs. Joseph Freitas of the Peabody Woman's Club spoke to the Junior and Senior girls on the subject of the scholarships available to students at Peabody High. The Woman's Club scholarships have helped many girls on to college and the winning of one of these scholarships is a very worthwhile objective toward which to strive.

November 6. The Civics Club presented the first of its series of five assemblies today with President Paul Ruelle ably introducing "The Gloom Chasers," Myrnella and Duke Montague. These entertainers performed many mysterious tricks with the aid of amateur magicians Lukie McHugh, Noreen Vagge and Petro Tsoukalas.

November 7. Great was the surprise of the whole school to come to a Salem-Peabody Game Rally and find a Salem player collapsed on a stretcher in the middle of the stage. The presence of the enemy did not in the least detract from the addresses by Coach John Bezemes, Assistant Coach Edward Donahue and our brave Co-Captains Alex Cover and Sam Kerkorian. As we made the rafters ring with our cheers, we prayed to heaven that we would be victorious in the battle of battles.

A large crowd attended the Cheer Leaders' Salem-Peabody Record Hop that was held in the gym this same evening. Everyone was intrigued with the original and interesting decorations which covered the hall.

November 8. "Peabody Triumphs over Arch-Rival Salem," read the headline that topped the story of the snowy victory of Peabody over Salem.

November 11. Armistice Day brought another day of escape from school and studies, a day of freedom and relaxation.

November 14. The class of '54 got its social activities off to an excellent start as they presented their annual Junior Frolic which was tremendously enjoyed by everyone.

November 17. The hit song of the day was "We're Never not Goin' to Go Home" as report cards cast a gloom on our normally happy faces.

November 25. The best assembly in many years was put on by the Observer Staff today with William Beres, Advertising Manager, as Master of Ceremonies. Joanna Witham, Editor-in-Chief, and Mary McNichol, Circulation Manager, also spoke. Sweet music was provided by the P.H.S. orchestra, a Jazz Quartet, and vocalists, Jane Doyle and Paul Puska. Rita Pelletier, Joan Leger, and the Gibley sisters danced but topping the bill was our old pal, the inimitable John Paul Jones III.

December 2, 9. First period was a rest period for the three upper classes in their first and second floor homerooms as the Freshmen struggled away with their departmentals in the "garrett".

December 5. A "Night of Terror" was brought to Peabody High by our popular Dramatic Guild under the able direction of Mr. D. Edward Gorman. Making up the cast of budding actors and actresses were Vernon Cagan, Joann Saltzman, Harry Karavolas, Virginia Holden, William Beres, Helen Vontzalides, Harriet Pappathanasi, William Kachinski, Edward Waters, Elaine Kennedy, and Robert Parker. Immediately following the successful play, the cast and their friends enjoyed a rollicking party at the spacious home of Alma Higgins.

December 10. The boys of Peabody High were introduced to the advantages of a career in the Coast Guard by a movie on that theme during the free period today.

December 12. As the acme of the Christmas Social Season, the Christmas Ball, the first formal of our school year was presented in the P.H.S. auditorium. The gym became a fairyland of beautifully gowned girls and handsomely attired boys. The highlight of the evening was the choosing and crowning as Queen, Jane Fennessy, whose escort was James Day of Salem. Making up the Queen's court were Ursula Pyburn, Shirley Gregory, Constance Waring, Peggy Speliotis, Marcy Dowling, and Jean Fisher. We all certainly owe the Senior Class a debt of gratitude for giving us such a wonderful time.

December 19. Miss Lawless efficiently conducted the Glee Club through a variety of Christmas songs at the annual Christmas Assembly this morning. Rendering solos were "Mickey" Aiken and Elizabeth Anderson with Joanne Collier reading a Christmas story. Ann Marie Durand's recitation of "Twas the Night Before Christmas" was a performance that will always be remembered.

December 19—January 5. Three cheers for our winter vacation! We had a merry old time on this long awaited recess from school.

January 9. As that white feathery stuff called snow lay knee deep on the ground, we had another holiday from school. The bad weather brought disappointment too, as the Spanish Club dance scheduled for this evening had to be cancelled.

CUPID'S BALL

January 12, 13, 15. No, we no longer have torture chambers at Peabody High. The moans and groans that you hear are coming from the classrooms where worried students are suffering over their Mid-Year Examinations.

January 14. John Paul Jones, our class jester, was elected to represent Peabody High at Good Government Day at the state house in Boston. In honor of the occasion the members of Mr. Johnson's Homeroom 102 were given an exhibition of his talents.

The interesting but relatively unknown history of musical instruments was brought to us by Mr. J. Phillips Robertson in an unusual assembly sponsored by the Civics Club. The talk, entitled "Musical Roundup of the 20th Century B. C." was made more interesting by a demonstration of several of the historic instruments. The speaker was introduced by Secretary Gertrude Delp of the Civics Club.

January 19. The Juniors felt the importance of their position as Seniors-to-be as they were measured for their class rings today.

January 21. Popular Bayne Manoogian was elected to receive the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Pilgrimage Pin for Dependability, Leadership and Patriotism. On this same morning we were shown a movie on Infantile Paralysis. Those smiling faces above crippled bodies will certainly inspire us all to give generously to the March of Dimes.

January 29. Congratulations to the Civics Club as Frances Manning introduced the third delightful assembly presented by the club this year. Mr. George Campbell, an inspiring speaker, a delightful humorist, and a noted song leader, gave us a very interesting assembly and conducted us through many familiar tunes.

February 6. St. Valentine and Cupid danced through our hearts while we attended the Senior Cupid's Ball. If rumors be true, it would seem that Cupid's aim was very good on this night.

February 18. In response to the familiar strains of the music played by the High School Orchestra, we all filed to the assembly hall to witness the Washington, Lincoln, Peabody Assembly. Speaking on the three famous men born in February were Elaine Kennedy, Teddy Rimer and David Sargent who were introduced by Mistress of Ceremonies, Frances Glebus. Joanna Witham and Beatrice Wright offered vocal solos. Mr. D. Edward Gorman directed the entire program.

February 19. The Hollywood talent scouts (from Gainsboro) moved in to take both formal and informal pictures for the yearbook. Every time we turned around someone was saying "cheese".

February 20. As vice-president of the Civics Club, Geraldine Canal had the honor of presenting Mr. Lloyd LaVaux, "Poet of the Concert Accordian," to the assembled student body. Mr. LaVaux introduced us to both Bach and "Slaughter on 10th Avenue".

February 27. Fire alarms sounded and fire engines came streaming up the street. Boys and girls alike ran from the high school as the smoke belched from the old pottery building which was burning down at last. Flames soared skyward as every able-bodied man, woman, and child raced out to see the spectacular fire. When classes finally began at 10:30 they consisted chiefly of discussions on the technique used in fighting fires.

February 27—March 9. Our weary bones took a welcomed rest from the serious study that we have been doing since Christmastime. When we arrived back at school we began checking off the number of days that we have left with our teachers and fellow pupils.

March 23-25. The Freshmen completed their departmentals inspired (we hope) by the music produced by the Senior Music Classes which have begun in the auditorium. Let's hope that we improve before Graduation time comes 'round.

April 9, 10. "Best in Years." That's what they said about our Senior Revue, "Hold Your Hats". No one can deny that we all had a wonderful time through the many weeks of rehearsals and on the nights of the show. We are very proud of and grateful to Lou Rodrique and Andy Quinn who were our very capable directors.

April 21. This is the second last time that we will receive those gloomy memorandums, Report Cards. Only one more marking period until graduation.

April 24. The Juniors presented their very successful Junior Prom tonight. If all their financial affairs go as smoothly as this one did, they will be a very rich class. Congratulations to Joan Parker, the Queen, and Bob Maguire, her King.

April 28. Today the assembly was held to honor the recipients of the George Peabody Medal. They are Mary McNichol, Valedictorian; Paula Prendible, Salutatorian; Frances Glebus, First Speaker; William Beres, Second Speaker. Also to receive high awards were Mary Costas, William Hobey, Joan Kavanaugh, Beatrice Pitcher. Receiving Honorable Mention were Jennie Dluznieski, Jane Fennessy, William Kachinski, Harry Karavolas, Peter Kushkowski, Nancy Lalikos, Ann McCarthy, Harriet Pappathanasi, Betty Saccone, Armen Sarkisian, Edward Waters and Joanna Witham.

April 29. Pictures again! All this photography is likely to turn our heads. However, this was just for the few pictures that remained to be taken for the Meta.

May 1—10. As the flowers sprouted forth and the trees donned their green we departed for our spring vacation. We left with both sorrow and gladness for on our return we would have only 15 more days of school.

May 15. The second Dramatic Guild production was presented tonight. This time the play, directed by Mr. D. Edward Gorman, was a comedy entitled "The Form Divine." The entire cast did an excellent job before a full house. The cast, made up entirely of Seniors, included Marcy Dowling, Shirley Spencer, Noreen Vagge, Helen Vontzalides, Rae Kelley, Paula Prendible, Ursula Pyburn, Jane Fennessy, Barbara Jardine, Joann Saltzman, Carole Jones, Elizabeth Komarin, Phyllis Herman, William Kachinski, George DeMerritt, Bobby Bazer, William Russell and Harry Karavolas.

May 29. The last class is over,
The last homework done;
Our school days are finished.
Our diplomas are won.

June 1. The Senior Class Banquet and a feast to remember. After we had eaten just as much as we possibly could, we rolled with laughter at the three-act show put on by John Paul Jones III.

June 7. What a truly magic ring the word Graduation has. As we walked across the stage at P.H.S. for the last time as undergraduates, our caps and gowns took on new meaning. They symbolized the purity of heart and soul of a young teenager as he leaves the haunts of his youth. Let's hope that the world will treat us well.

June 9. With all seriousness behind, the class of '53 met for the first time as graduates and had a marvelous time at the Senior Reception.

This ends the memories of four wonderful years at Peabody High School. May all the rest of our lives be as happy and profitable.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1953, residing in Peabody, in the County of Essex, and the State of Massachusetts, being of sound mind and disposing memory do make, ordain, publish, and declare this to be our Last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all former wills and codicils by us made.

Alex Cover leaves his ability to play as a team man to any Junior possessing as strong a will to win.

Paul Manos bequeaths his height to Joe Savy.

Shirley Spencer wills her friendly cheerfulness to Pat Stelchook.

Fred "Spider" Felt leaves his pegs and suedes to his fellow "cat", Allen Jung.

Sam Kerkorian bequeaths his football cleats to another star end, Reino Manninen.

Virginia Papacostas wills her winning personality to Ann McClain.

George Cromidas leaves his suaveness with the girls to "Skip" McLaughlin.

Helen Vontzalides bequeaths her place at the lunch counter to Harriet Fillis.

Jimmy Cronin wills his capable handling of the "money bags" to next year's Senior Class treasurer.

Billy Kachinski and Mary Costas leave their advertising headaches to their Junior successors.

Harry "Mr. Zero" Batchelder bequeaths his hockey togs to Bobby McGuire.

Noreen Vagge wills her wonderful smile to Elayne Kennedy.

Armen Sarkisian leaves his hope of running the 100-yard dash in 9 seconds to Jimmy Kutsomites.

Virginia Holden bequeaths her chic appearance to Joan Parker.

Bob "Liberace" Bazer wills his place at the piano to Pat Shoer.

Shirley Koban and Mary Galaris leave their love for Northeastern University to Eleanor Selvo and Marie Caton.

Dick Gourley bequeaths his basketball captaincy to Art Farley.

Harriet Pappathanasi wills her acting ability to next year's Sarah Bernhart.

Ed Waters leaves his political views to Minas Dakos.

Marcia Biedermann bequeaths her quietness to Grace Thatcher.

Mary McNichol wills the distributing of the Observer to next year's Circulation Manager.

John Paul Jones leaves his jokes to Harold Smith, next year's class comedian.

Janice Jackman bequeaths to Marie Brophy her trips to Dom's Beauty Parlor.

Lita Caires wills her "jive" dancing to Beatrice Garabedian.

Billy Beres leaves the Debating Club looking for another William Jennings Bryan.

Barbara Murphy and Carole Jones bequeath their tapping toes to the Gibley Sisters.

Teddi Karakoudas wills her pep and vitality to Mary Karolides.

George Demeritt leaves his happy-go-lucky ways to Victor Prokopovich.

Frances Glebus bequeaths her intelligence to Mary Santuliani.

Vern Cagan wills his willingness to help others to Reinhold Resmussen.

Mickey Aiken leaves her leadership ability to Barbara Rikkola.

Harry Karavolas bequeaths the Dramatic Guild a well-balanced budget.

Paula Prendible wills her favorite lamp in which she burned the midnight oil while studying for exams.

The Class of '53 leaves next year's graduates with the hope that they will enjoy their Senior Revue as much as we did ours.

Carl Seaberg bequeaths his extravagant wardrobe to Bill Rezendes.

Shirley Pare wills her boisterous giggle to Nancy Gibbs.

Tom Cares leaves his gift of silence to Ray Holden.

Jennie Dluznieska bequeaths to the Junior Class a new Bel-Air convertible from Lalime's Garage.

Jerry DeLucca wills his he-man physique to Dick Cloutman.

Jane Fennessy leaves her fight for a P.H.S. band to Bob Litwin.

Ann McCarthy bequeaths that Irish temper to any Junior strong willed enough to control it.

Pete Torrigian leaves the baseball team looking for as outstanding a captain.

Jim Gagnon bequeaths his blond tresses to Albert Laakso.

Rae Kelley wills her artistic ability to Gloria Gilmore.

Dorothy Urquhart leaves her pretty eyes to Janet Flynn.

Larry McCauley bequeaths his curly locks to Mr. Greehy.

Connie Waring wills her ice skates to her deserving sister, Janus Waring.

Larry McIntire leaves Bob Holden to take his place as the league's top defenseman.

Mary Sedlier bequeaths her much-used comb and mirror to Mary Almeida.

Bill Hobey wills his "specs" to John Demers.

Joanna Witham bequeaths her place as Editor-in-Chief of the Observer to some deserving Junior.

Miles Cares wills his crooning talents to Paul Puska.

Joan Kavanaugh leaves her bewilderment when chosen as Honor Student to any Junior half as excited and surprised.

Joann Saltzman bequeaths her gavel as head of the Dramatic Guild to next year's president.

Bob Carpenter wills his line smashing ability on the gridiron to Bob Kane.

Freddy Bougas leaves Home Room 101 without a punster.

Phyllis Herman bequeaths her Observer literary contributions to Joanne Collier.

John Champlain leaves Solon Anezis to assist Mr. Cuddire with the sound track at the high school assemblies.

Donald Sheldon bequeaths his strong ambition to David Sargent.

Alex Kravchuk leaves Walter Brown to take his place in Coach Bezemes' forward wall.

Peggy Speliotis keeps Harry Mandragouras for herself.

The departing Class of 1953 leaves P.H.S. with many never-to-be-forgotten moments of happiness.

Lastly we do hereby constitute and appoint Stephen Barna and Marcella Dowling as Co-Executors of this our Last Will and Testament.

In witness whereof, We, the Class of 1953, the testators, have written this our final will on this parchment, and forsaking all other promises, have set our hands and seal this seventh day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three.

FOOTBALL

The beginning of our Senior year at P. H. S. marked the return of our football team to the Class A division as a nine-point team. That Peabody well deserved the higher classification was demonstrated by the impressive record compiled during the fall of 1952.

This year's eleven was led by Co-Captains Alex Cover and Sam Kerkorian who, by their excellent play and inspired leadership contributed their share to a very successful season. The Peabody forward wall from end to end was considered by many of the football experts as the best on the North Shore. Proof of the strength of our defensive team was that in every game with the single exception of the Gloucester tilt, the opposition either failed to score or was able to register a single touchdown. In the backfield along with Pete Torigian, an excellent ball handler and passer, were two fast and shifty halfbacks, Harry Mandragouras and George Demeritt, and Bob Carpenter, triple threat fullback.

Members of '53 who represented Peabody during the season and who deserve great credit for their work on the gridiron were Co-Captains Alex Cover and Sam Kerkorian, Pete Torigian, Bob Carpenter, George Demeritt, Gerry De Lucca, Jim Cronin, Dick Gourley, Al Kravchuk, Bill Kachinski, Harry Karavolas, Fletcher Oakes, Bob Meniates, Paul Wright and Miles Cares.

Mandragouras and A. Cover were absent when picture was taken.

BASKETBALL

Our basketball team of 1953 completed its season with a record of five wins and nine losses, a record which in many ways is a little misleading. In several games, with merely a slight nod from "Lady Luck", the Peabody five might have tasted the sweet fruits of victory instead of defeat.

Coached by William Cronin in his first year with us as varsity coach of basketball, the team gave a good account of itself in all of the games. Undoubtedly under the direction of Coach Cronin, next year's team will give an even better account of itself and will establish Peabody as a team to be reckoned with on the basketball court.

Captain Dick Gourley and Pete Torigian were the outstanding stars of the Blue and White, tallying 176 and 230 points respectively to wind up among the high individual scorers of the Essex County League. Other members of the Class of 1953 who represented us in basketball were Alex Cover, Gerry DeLucca, Sam Kerkorian and Bill Beres.

HOCKEY

Although in Senior year we did not enjoy the thrills of winning the North Shore championship, our hockey team capably coached by Charles Carlin and captained by Harry Batchelder, compiled an extremely creditable record on the ice at the North Shore Sports Arena. An even better record might have well been made had not key injuries to some of the players crippled the Tanners in two or three of their losing games.

One of the features of the season was a non-league game played at Lake Placid, New York, in which the Peabody sextet went down to defeat at the hands of a strong Northwood team by a score of 5 to 1.

Congratulations to Carpenter and McHugh who stood high in the scoring derby as well as to Captain Harry Batchelder who was selected as the North Shore outstanding goalie for the season.

Members of 1953 who contributed to the success of the season were Captain Batchelder, Larry McIntire, Bob Carpenter, John Cherwek, John Jones and John MacKinnon.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

The girls of P. H. S. would not let it be said that the boys alone were the athletically minded students in the school. Although a varsity basketball team could not be formed because of a lack of facilities, the girls of the school still enjoyed an interesting basketball season under the capable supervision of our girls' athletic director, Miss Mary McNamara.

Interclass basketball throughout the winter season was enjoyed by the girls of all four classes with approximately eighty girls taking part in the program. During the season many a fine exhibition of good sportsmanship, cooperation and teamwork was witnessed by the large and sometimes very enthusiastic galleries of fellow students who attended the games. Although the race for championship honors was close, experience of the Senior girls won for them first place in the standings at the end of the year.

Members of the victorious Senior team were Captain B. Sherry, I. Sdoucos, A. Maher, V. Holden, N. Vagge, J. Fennessy, P. Herman, U. Pyburn, S. Spencer, M. Fedas, J. Saltzman and S. St. Pierre.

Several girls of '53 who participated throughout their first three years but were unable to play this year were T. Karakoudas, M. Eagar, P. Speliotis, B. Murphy, N. Lalikos and S. Gregory.

As in basketball, an interclass softball league was formed in the spring, and the responses to softball was just as enthusiastic. The girls worked hard to prepare themselves for the forthcoming games and showed the same high competitive spirit that we believe characterizes all Peabody athletic teams. Because this little article is being written early in April we are unable to present a complete account of what we believe will be a most successful and interesting season of softball.

The girls who are representing the Class of '53 on the softball diamond are V. Holden, I. Sdoucos, N. Vagge, S. Spencer, J. Saltzman, H. Vontzalides, N. Lalikos, S. Marshall, M. Fedas, A. Maher and S. St. Pierre.

CHEERLEADERS

Although the girls find the sport of football a little too rigorous, they do take a very active part in winning victories for our representatives on the gridiron. Our cheerleaders, an active and colorful group, do their full share in organizing and crystallizing the vocal support that seems so necessary if a team is to have a winning season. This year the girls really had something to cheer about, for our football team showed very marked improvement over the teams of the past two or three seasons.

The members of the cheerleader squad do receive a great deal of pleasure from cheering despite the fact that it means a tremendous amount of work. The girls have regular practice sessions and work diligently to coordinate the motions which accompany the cheers.

This year's cheerleaders were H. Vontzalides, V. Holden, N. Rikkola, E. French, M. Karolides, P. Speliotis and S. Spencer. The head cheerleaders who had two years of experience were V. Papacostas, J. Saltzman and N. Vagge.

We'd like to say at this time as a fitting conclusion to these few notes on our girls' athletic program that we could never thank Miss McNamara sufficiently for her help in making this year a very pleasant one for all of us. We sincerely appreciate her interest in us and we shall always be grateful to her.

AFTERWORD

We counted the days so joyously,
The number decreased quick as could be;
The day has come and now that it's over
We aren't exactly rolling in clover.
Thinking for ourselves now, that's something new,
Nobody to tell us just what to do;
It won't be long now before we miss
The unfelt warmth of that old edifice.
Doctors, nurses, secretaries, and wives,
The careers we worked for all our lives
Unveil themselves before our eyes;
Time goes much faster than we realize.
As the days, the months, and the years pass by,
Never let these fond memories die;
This Meta was made especially for you
To recall the things we used to do.
At P.H.S. the cornerstone was laid,
Oh, will your building stand erect and staid?
Or will it crumble and fall to the ground?
The future will prove if the framework is sound.
